Assemblin acquires heating & sanitation company in Kongsberg and Sigdal (Norway)

Assemblin Norway has acquired H&S specialist Rørlegger Strand & Co. AS with operations in Kongsberg and Sigdal, 19 employees and annual sales corresponding to approximately SEK 53 million.

Rørlegger Strand & Co. AS was established in 2006 and has since developed into a profitable, solid and strong local supplier of heating and sanitation technology to both companies and private sector in Kongsberg, Sigdal and Numedal. The project portfolio includes small and medium-sized projects, primarily within residential and leisure properties.

"We have had a good dialogue and in an early stage found out that we share values, company culture and the way we conduct business. As part of the Assemblin Group, we will have a professional owner who supports stability for the business and makes it possible for us to continue growing by taking on larger and more demanding assignments. We also get access to Assemblin's proven methods, purchasing agreements, competence and resources, which benefits our development," says Trygve Strand, President and main owner of Rørlegger Strand & Co. AS.

"This is an exciting investment in a new region with great potential. We have previously carried out work in the Kongsberg district but did not have an established business there. Through this acquisition, we also gain access to high competence which will contribute positively to our business", says Torgny Volden, Regional Manager at Assemblin in Norway.
